Tanja Long Bennett 2010-01-15 In the age of Rousseau, Huxley, and Toews, students are increasingly leaving conventional writing and reading academic writing as less pertinent in their personal lives, education, and future careers. Writing and Literature Composition as Inquiry, Learning, and Communication focuses on the development of writing skills that are fundamental to academic success. Writing and Literature builds a new conversation covering various genres of literature and writing. Students learn the various writing styles appropriate for analyzing, balancing, and critiquing these genres including poetry, novels, drama, and research writing. The text and its pairing of helpful visual aids throughout emphasizes the importance of critical reading and analysis in producing a successful composition.
